

Building High-Performance Engineering Teams

Who we are

EPWERY is a technology company with over 20 years of experience in software development. We specialize in assembling highly skilled teams and providing specialized talent to enhance technology projects in the U.S.

Unlike many firms, our founders are engineers actively involved in the selection and execution process. We don't just place resources—we ensure that every professional we provide is a perfect fit for the project's technical and cultural needs.

Operating from Argentina and Uruguay, we offer a nearshore advantage

-  50% cost savings compared to U.S.-based resources
-  Highly skilled engineers with hands-on experience
-  Strong cultural alignment with U.S. work standards
-  High retention rates due to competitive compensation and a lean company structure

Our hands-on leadership ensures that every team is aligned with project goals, eliminating inefficiencies and guaranteeing high performance.

Our value proposition

Full-Team Integration: Team Building

For end-to-end project execution, we assemble dedicated, cross-functional teams tailored to your needs. Our teams ensure seamless collaboration and high-quality outcomes by covering key roles such as:
